

The Native Creative Development Program

A Program of The Longhouse Education & Cultural Center and Artist Trust

Professional Development Workshop for Native Artists

Saturday March 25, 10:00 – 6:00pm

Longhouse Education & Cultural Center at Evergreen State College, Olympia

This free day long workshop will cover a host of topics relevant to native artists working in all visual art, craft, and media disciplines, including how to best document and present your work, how to research and identify artist opportunities, grant writing for artists, as well as detailed discussion and strategies for promoting and marketing your work.

Much of the workshop will include material from Artist Trust's innovative and highly successful EDGE Professional Development Program.

Please join The Longhouse Education & Cultural Center at Evergreen State College, Artist Trust and the following presenters for this special opportunity:

Claudia Bach, consultant for AdvisArts; Longhouse Director, Tina Kuckkahn; Fionn Meade, Artist Trust's Director of Grant Programs; Heather Joy Helbach-Olds, Artist Trust's Director of Information Services; sculptor and designer Shaun Peterson, and other special guests. Lunch will be provided for all registered participants. Pre-registration is required and space is limited.

To pre-register for the workshop, please email or call Tina Kuckkahn, Longhouse Director, kuckkaht@evergreen.edu, (360) 867-5344
