Meal Plan Exemption Process (updated Spring 2017)

The College policy requires that freshmen (40 credits or less) living in Housing must be on a required meal plan. This requirement is for the full academic year.

Important things to keep in mind about this process:

- Please note that dining services offers vegan options, vegetarian options, and items that do not contain gluten. Generally, students wanting an exemption for these dietary reasons alone are denied.
- We encourage students to apply for an exemption at least a month before the beginning of the quarter. If you apply after a quarter has begun, please note that even if you are granted a full exemption, you will not get a full refund (because we contract with an outside vendor, meal plans pay out funds on a weekly basis whether they are used or not).
- Students may be required to meet with the Head Chef of Dining Services to determine if specific food needs can be met.
- During the application or appeal process (while you are waiting to hear back from the committee) continue to use your current meal plan. Your meal plan is still considered active and you will be charged the weekly rate whether used or not.
- Refunds will be prorated from the time the application is approved for an exemption.
- All applications will be reviewed and you will be notified of any missing documentation.
- If you submit the application after bills are due, it is recommended that you pay for your meal plan and if you are approved for a reduction/exemption, a refund will be processed provided there is no outstanding balance on your student account.

Reasons for a reduction/exemption from the meal plan

Campus dining offers a range of options (including vegan, vegetarian, and items that are made without gluten) and will work with individuals on their dining needs. Special meals can be prepared for students upon request. Prior to petitioning students are encouraged to speak with the executive chef to come up with a plan that may suit your dietary needs. In addition, you can set up a meeting with the Director of Residential and Dining Services to learn about all of your options.

1. Medical or disability based needs which the established meal plan options do not accommodate

If you are requesting an exemption due to a severe medical issue or other disability you will need to provide documentation to verify that your dietary restrictions cannot be accommodated on campus. Access Services will need to collect medical information and possibly consult with your health care provider to support a meal plan exemption as a disability accommodation. A letter on letterhead from a medical provider is required stating your medical diagnosis, the current impact or functional limitations, and your specific dietary needs, including a menu if possible. Must be submitted to Access Services for Students with Disabilities (contact information below.)

2. Religion-based restrictions which the established meal plan options do not accommodate

If you are requesting an exemption for religious reasons, you will need to provide a summary of your religious-based dietary needs and provide a letter supporting your particular needs from your religious leader. If you plan on cooking all your meals in a kitchen on campus, please provide information in your letter about how you plan to have this kitchen provide you with the environment that you need to practice your religion (ie. Kosher/Halal kitchen, etc.)

3. Severe Financial Burden, which without some relief, may result in the student having to withdraw from Evergreen

If you are requesting an exemption for severe financial hardship you will need to meet with the financial aid office to review your need and your options for loans, student jobs, etc. After your meeting please provide documentation that includes who you met with and your financial Aid package. In your personal statement please include how you will obtain, pay, and prepare the food that you will be purchasing and how being exempt will reduce your financial hardship.

4. Other:

If you do not fall in any of the above categories and feel you have reason to reduce or be exempt from the meal plan requirement please provide as much information as possible through our application process.

Application process for exemption/reduction of meal plan:

- Part I: Application – must be completed and signed at the bottom of the page.
- Part II: A written essay that details why you require an exemption/reduction.
- Part III: Written documentation supporting your reason for application. If you have questions, please inquire with Residential and Dining Services about which documents would complete your application.

Once you have completed the application, submit it to the Office of Residential and Dining Services on the 3rd floor of A building. The exemption committee reviews all applications and determines your future meal plan status. The committee strives to meet and render decisions on applications in two weeks. After your application has been reviewed, your meal plan status will be e-mailed to your Evergreen email within two business days after the committee meeting.

If the Exemption Committee does not approve your initial application, you may appeal the decision to the Director of Residential and Dining Services. You are expected to provide either new or clarifying information with your appeal letter.
