John Carmichael, Ph.D.

Greetings Evergreen family,

As we wrap up evaluation week for a fall quarter like no other, we want to take a moment to celebrate our collective success. In the face of extraordinary obstacles, we have been agile, thoughtful, steadfast, and committed to supporting each other. We've done so while serving our students and balancing the needs of connection and safety.

Thank you to those of you who will be working through the break for us to be ready to return in winter quarter.

We encourage you to take the time to relax and care for yourselves and your loved ones in whatever customs bring you joy. May we all embark on 2022 feeling renewed and ready to dig into a new year together.

Cheers,

John & Dexter
