Subject: Searching for a gift? Longhouse gifts promote Indigenous arts and cultures

Are you still looking for the perfect gift for someone special?

The Honoring Friendships wool blanket is on sale now!

This beautifully designed 100% wool blanket was designed by Louie Gong, Nooksack, with Eighth Generation and the Longhouse to celebrate the Longhouse's 25th Anniversary. Rich in meaning, the elements in the blanket represent Indigenous peoples gathering in strength and friendship. The designs recall artworks found around the Longhouse Indigenous Arts Campus and The Evergreen State College. Whether you use this blanket for yourself or to show your gratitude for a dear friend or loved one, we hope the Honoring Friendships wool blanket brings you serenity.

Our Longhouse at 25, and Gideq T-shirts are on sale now and make wonderful gifts for the family. Our Across Waters logo was designed by Taylor Krise, Squaxin Island, and our Gideq logo was designed by Malynn Foster, Squaxin Island.

Visit the Longhouse store online to receive these items in time for the Holidays.

When you make a purchase from the Longhouse you are making a contribution to our mission, to promote Indigenous arts and cultures through education, cultural preservation, creative expression, and economic development.

Happy Holidays from The Longhouse Education and Cultural Center
