*MES implemented the non-credit thesis extension as a replacement for the 4-credit thesis extension in 2017. Students who are not able to complete their thesis in spring quarter can enroll for either a summer or fall extension. Most students who take this extension complete their thesis after one additional quarter of work. To calculate retention rates for Fall 2021 to Fall 2022, students were included who took either the summer extension or the fall extension as retained.

Master of Environmental Studies retention increased by seven percentage points to 90%. Despite 3-point drops respectively, Master of Public Administration had 81% retention rate, similar to last year's cohort, while MIT retention remained high at 92%.
